

◀ We finally made it!

...but we want to drive it using our mobile phone!

We are looking for a Mobile App Developer

Who are we?

We Dibbers are passionate travel enthusiasts who want to make travel planning as easy as possible - a few clicks and you are ready to go!

We are building a Swedish cutting-edge online platform to streamline and digitalise the travel experience for companies, individual travellers and wanderlust groups.

We are an innovative team who pushes the limits and loves to celebrate success!

Your profile:

- At least 3 years of work experience in mobile development
- Expertise with making Android/iOS native applications
- Previous experience with Java/C# language
- Experience or interest in Dart and Flutter is a big plus
- Advanced English speaker
- Open-minded person with good analytical and problem-solving skills ready to help us to create state of the art mobile hybrid application

What's awesome about working at DIB?

Being a part of a fast-growing start-up where you are given the chance to work on the evolution of our own platform.

We like our employees happy & healthy, so we offer private medical insurance

We work from our new house with modern and cozy office space including lounge, game rooms, backyard, and coffee corners in Belgrade

The coolest thing about working at Dib is traveling; we have special flight prices for Dibbers

It is not our goal to box you in, on the contrary, it is allow you to grow and self improve through training & education we provide

We will offer you a full-time employment contract with compensation for sport activities

If you ever feel disconnected or overwhelmed with work - don't you worry, we have amazing company events and team building activities up our sleeve.

If you believe you are the right person for this job, please send your CV to hr@divtravel.com.
